

What is the key to a full life?

A full life means that your loved ones are equipped to accomplish their individually-defined goals and dreams.

The key to a full life is dependent upon different stakeholders, especially families and friends, embracing respect, rights, choice, self-determination, and more for people who are receiving supports.

Contact Us

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH
Developmental Disabilities Administration

The Council on Quality and Leadership

Developmental Disabilities
Administration (DDA)
410-767-5600
webteam.dda@maryland.gov

CQL
410-583-0060
info@thecouncil.org
www.c-q-l.org/FullLives

Network
Accreditation
Families
— and —
Friends

About Network Accreditation

Network Accreditation offers those connected to the human services system in Maryland guidance, support, and partnership in improving quality through training, workshops, meetings, agency assessments, on-site visits, individual interviews, policy reviews, focus groups, and more.

How You Can Help Out

Learn About The Process

Talk to DDA and/or CQL staff, attend events, and visit the website: www.c-q-l.org/FullLives

Embrace Accreditation Components

Find out how tools like Personal Outcome Measures[®] and Basic Assurances[®] promote individual outcomes

Spread The Word

Help us share information about how this process will enhance quality throughout Maryland

Provide Feedback

As the Network Accreditation process is implemented, tell us how it's going for you and your loved one

